“ I met him about 18 months ago at his Thrift Store. Us being about the same age, we hit it off pretty well. He told me that day that he had open heart surgery. I would try to make to all of his yard sales there by the Mexican Restaurant. I didn't make the last one. I had prior commitments and couldn't make it. I always made it a point to shake his hand when saw each other again. He like to call me "Easy Money". I saw him at the hardware store back in mid May. I asked him when his next sale was and he said " First of the month! " I told him, "Ok! I'll see you then!" I am truly sorry for your families loss. I will miss him.
