“ I'll never forget all the laughs we shared or the good times we had. Never would I have thought I wouldn't get to see you again but I know your in a much better place than you was. I don't get to say this about many people but you was my friend and I was yours. It breaks my heart to know you passed away alone and I wished that to be different. So friend I know you are in heaven now and I just want everyone to know you touched so many peoples life's with your kindness and good spirits. Maybe one day we will meet again but until then rest in peace and I love you. May God bless your family and help them get through this lose of you.
